COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

A lady brought in some news clippings and an informational sheet that describes the way that elm trees have been saved in the municipality of Wallingford, Conn. The treatment has not been expensive for the municipality because of the volunteer services of the fire department and volunteer high school students. The treatment cost Wallingford about nine cents per tree. The information is very encouraging and it might be that many of our trees can be saved. I might point out that there must be health enough to respond to treatment.

Most of the trees that were marked and tagged by the shade tree committee of Bethel are dead or very nearly dead. The dead trees must be removed. The treatment material will be passed on to the shade tree committee, and I am sure that it will be very useful in saving some of our elm trees that might be lost without the treatment.

The shade tree committee is tagging the dead elms that must be removed this year. When the trees are tagged, bids will be sent out and prices will be requested for the removal of the dead trees. It is possible that the town does not have enough money to remove and dispose of all the trees this year. In that case, I would think that part of the work will have to be done this year and the rest next year. Of course there will be some that will die between now and next summer. But the job should not be as big next year as it is this year.

The commitment book is all typed and the tax bills will be mailed the last of this week. The mailing date will be over two months earlier than last year. Most tax bills will be slightly smaller this year than last year due to the one mill decrease in the tax rate. The exception will be found where there is an increase in the assessed value over the assessed value of last year.

WARN DRIVERS LAW IS ON THE SIDE OF HORSES

A week end drive through the country can bring back to some senior citizens memories of the olden days. Horses being walked, driven and ridden seem to be on every country road. To the automobile driver, this can create a serious problem.

Many of these horses are being handled by beginners—and many of the horses themselves are beginners, not used to the moves and excitement of heavy traffic.

Because of the uncertainties connected with inexperience or in some cases improper training of these horses, problems can and often do arise. Horse owners are warned to use good judgement when on the roadways. If your horse is easily excitable, you should ride on earless trails—not on the roads.

Car owners beware! Too many accidents are happening on country roads—more than on super highways. Some drivers relax too much. A careless driver who speeds on back roads or day-dreams at the wheel is in for serious trouble, especially where horses are concerned.

The laws in Massachusetts (and most other states) are very strict regarding the fact that horses have the right of way. Any operator of a motor vehicle who fails to slow down, or stop when signaled to do so by a person who is walking, driving or riding a horse could be hauled into court and fined.

Apple growers are disturbed over the ban on the importation of Canadian apple pickers by the U. S. Dept. of Labor. Orchardists are looking for a bumper crop this year.

The Maine Water Utilities Association meets August 12 at Norway. Superintendents and other officials will be present. Renovations are being made at Bear Mountain Library, Waterford, to increase the area for books. A room in the rear of the building is being remodeled for this purpose.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Jensen of Rumford were honored Saturday on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary by friends and relatives. A dinner party planned by their children was enjoyed at Madison's Restaurant. Mr. Jensen is a retired supervisor of the Oxford Paper Company.

During the heavy electrical storm Tuesday afternoon the Central Maine Power Sub-Station, Route 108, Rumford, was hit by lightning. The circuit was out covering the Island business district and other sections for about one hour. Dixfield reported a loss of power during the storm for about three and one-half hours.

 Dear Sir:

In the dialogue between Mark Cymrot and me the specific issue is not whether Bethel planning is to be done, but rather who shall do it. Are the Univ. of Maine officials, the service businesses, the Bethel Town Manager and Selectmen unable to manage their respective affairs? I do not think so. I have faith that the logistics of the campaign have been well considered and that nothing Mark Cymrot nor I might say would be particularly effective. If this be "laissez-faire", so be it. But that is not my understanding of the term. Mr. Cymrot seems to feel that something more is needed. Precisely what he has in mind he does not say.

He implies, however, that Bethel needs some sort of extra-curricular planners. I have merely pointed out that while the aims of these do-gooders, whether amateur or professional are always appealing their results are too often appalling. So much for that!

I note with amused appreciation Mr. Cymrot's comparison of me with the elder Cato. I do in fact share some of the venerable Senator's rather austere convictions. I do not, for example, look upon the assassins of guitar-toting, bearded young lunks merely as "exuberant spirits". And I am much too narrow-minded to suggest that the recent rape of a 48-year old wife of a State Dept. official, at nine o'clock in the morning, alongside a busy thoroughfare in Washington, D. C. by four ebullient young sports, may be excused by an early-childhood trauma. I hope Mr. Cymrot won't blame me for this particular pet peeve of mine.

Mr. Cymrot suggests that I bring in unrelated matters. Somehow he involves himself in foreign affairs. I certainly do not. After thirty-odd years of

20 SECONDS WITH THE NAZARENE

What is a "brave"? In writing it is a short note; in music it is a long note. What is your life? Is it a short hurried scrawl or is it a long, musical note of sweetness? In any case it is a brave—a note that, if it is short, may be by the grace of God made sweet.

For we are unto God a sweet savour of Christ....

SUNDAY RIVER

— Mrs. R. M. Fleet, Cor. —

The Vacation Bible School closed a one week session with a very busy day Friday. After classes we were invited to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Garey where a frankfort and roll cook-out was waiting, prepared by the mothers: Mrs. Mary Morin, Mrs. Barbara Yates and Mrs. Jeannine Fleet.

Assisting Mrs. Garey served to over thirty. Don Brown arrived just before we started to eat and took a couple of group pictures which might be in the paper if we were not so hot that we looked melted into one piece.

Third row, Kathy Young, Paula Wright, Carlton Goss, minister, Sheryl Wright, Bonnie George (helper), Mrs. Julia Fleet. Then Friday evening we had our closing program for the parents and friends as follows: Opening song, school "Gods Gifts," Primary school, song, "One Door, school; Recitation, Primary; Song, "Bible," All Offering, Doxology, school, Hymns, "The Wise Man" & I Sing a Song, school.

Juniors group presented a sign language "Bible Story," "I'll Good Bye Song" and Benediction by Mr. Goss and school.

Mrs. Fleet thanked all who in any way gave us a helping hand from light fixing to a new door step which never should break again as its a rock. When it is settled into the ground as it will the other step will be added thanks to Romeo Baker and helpers.

This community is beginning to feel the water shortage. Mr. and Mrs. Estes Yates, Mr. and Mrs. Romeo Baker are hauling water and Asher Runnels with the help of R. M. Fleet drove a point 14 feet and found some water.

Tom Yates and several others are just about out of drinking water. Floyd Verrill put down a new point. Most of the brooks are dry and Sunday River is the lowest it has ever been.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hutchins of Rumford Point called on the R. M. Fleets.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris Plummer of Gorham, Maine, were Tuesday callers on her sister and family the R. M. Fleets.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Jackson called on Mr. and Mrs. Holman Bacon recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Baker are putting up a new building on the Sunday River Road near Clifton Jackson.

Ernest Angerine, Bethel stands beside the new design Olympic model Ski-Doo for 1966 at the recent meeting of Bombardier Ski-Doo dealers held in Lancaster, N. H. Officials of Bombardier Snowmobile Ltd. of Valcourt, Quebec, announced two other models, the Super Olympique with a 14 H. P. air-cooled engine and speeds to 45 M. P. H. as well as the double track Alpine. These personalized versions of the world's first snowmobile, invented in 1929 by J. A. Bombardier have brought a revolution in snow travel. The Ski-Doo was first developed in 1956 as the "Ski-dog" to replace the dog team for the hunter and trapper. Ski-dooing has now become the fastest growing winter recreation for families in the North American continent.

The meeting, organized by Timberland Machines of Lancaster, N. H., the Bombardier distributor for Northern New England, lacked only one thing—snow. However, dealers were assured that a good season has been arranged.
